Who We Are

Clarity for Complex Business Matters

Good business decisions require relevant and reliable information, together with an appropriate understanding of the factors that may affect them. In an increasingly complex business environment, the information and considerations needed to make decisions do not always come from a single source or discipline. Accounting, finance, tax, valuation, governance, sustainability, regulation and other business considerations can be interconnected and need to be understood in the appropriate context.

Reliable information and a comprehensive, integrated understanding of the relevant considerations help management, shareholders and other stakeholders make decisions on a clearer and well-supported basis.

With this in mind, S&R brings together relevant professional expertise through an integrated approach tailored to our clients' needs. With our roots in public accounting, we combine professional discipline, adherence to professional standards, independence and an evidence-based approach with practical business understanding. Today, S&R's capabilities span audit & assurance, accounting, tax, business & financial advisory, and sustainability, which can be delivered individually or brought together as needed to provide the information, analysis and professional perspectives that support decision-making.

S&R is an evolution of KAP Bayu Susilo, a public accounting firm that commenced operations in 2008 under the leadership of Yulius Bayu Susilo Harto. Following the addition of Florentinus Suryo Susilo as a partner, KAP Bayu Susilo evolved in late 2017 into Susilo & Rekan and obtained its public accounting firm license in early 2018. The experience and capabilities built through KAP Bayu Susilo have since been carried forward, further developed, and enriched within S&R.

Why S&R

Quality. Access. Value.

Professional experience and discipline developed in global firms, combined with more direct partner involvement and a more efficient structure.

EXPERIENCE, METHODOLOGY & PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

S&R's partners bring decades of experience from Big Four firms, international engagements and corporate environments, and remain actively involved in professional organizations, including leadership roles within the Indonesian Institute of Certified Public Accountants (IAPI). This experience is supported by structured methodologies, relevant professional references and a system of quality management embedded in the way S&R delivers its engagements.

DIRECT ACCESS TO EXPERIENCED PARTNERS

Our leaner structure enables partners to remain directly involved—from understanding the matter and determining the approach to reviewing key analyses and discussing conclusions with clients.

A MORE EFFICIENT STRUCTURE

Our leaner operating model enables S&R to deliver high-quality professional services with strong partner involvement and a more competitive fee structure than larger global firms.

CROSS-DISCIPLINARY PERSPECTIVE

Our roots in public accounting, combined with advisory and corporate experience, help us understand the connections between accounting, tax, finance, transactions, governance, sustainability and other business considerations in the context of each client's needs.

ANALYSIS THAT SUPPORTS DECISIONS

We focus on analysis that is technically sound while clearly explaining the issues, implications, options and considerations relevant to our clients' decisions.

When S&R Can Help

S&R can assist when organizations require professional judgment in financial reporting and tax matters; transactions, valuations, financing or restructuring; strengthening governance and controls; preparing for sustainability reporting and assurance; or other business decisions and situations that require relevant professional expertise.

Audit s Assurance

Reliable Information as a Foundation for Trust

Reliable financial information provides an important basis for shareholders, lenders, regulators and other stakeholders in making decisions. SCR provides audit C assurance services to give users confidence in the reliability of that information, in accordance with the scope and level of assurance established by applicable professional standards.

At SCR, audit C assurance are more than compliance exercises. We seek to understand the business behind the numbers and focus our work on significant areas, while maintaining the independence and professional skepticism required by applicable professional standards

◆ Financial Statement Audit

Independent audit of financial statements in accordance with applicable professional standards.

◆ Review Engagements

Limited assurance over financial information where an audit is not required or appropriate.

◆ Agreed-Upon Procedures

◆ Compliance s Special Purpose Engagements

Independent work addressing contractual, regulatory or other specified requirements.

◆ I nternal Audit s Controls

Our Approach — Independent judgment. Focused execution. Clear communication.

In addition to completing the engagement in accordance with applicable standards, we communicate significant matters requiring management's attention and help stakeholders understand the information on which decisions are based.

A Risk-Based Audit Approach

Audits are conducted in accordance with Indonesian Standards on Auditing (SPAP) using a risk-based approach. We understand the business and relevant areas, assess the risk of material misstatement, and perform audit procedures to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence as the basis for our conclusions.

Partner involvement, review, documentation and our quality management system form part of the audit process. Where relevant, we also share observations and recommendations—including on internal controls and financial reporting processes—as an added value for clients.

Accounting

Better Information Starts with Better Accounting

Good decisions depend on reliable financial information. Accounting challenges, however, often extend beyond recording transactions—businesses may face changing reporting requirements, complex transactions, tight closing deadlines, weaknesses in financial processes or simply the need for better information to support management decisions.

SCR supports finance teams across the accounting and reporting cycle—from maintaining underlying records to addressing complex financial reporting matters and strengthening the infrastructure behind financial information.

◆ Accounting s Bookkeeping

Maintenance of accounting records and preparation of periodic financial information.

◆ Financial Reporting

Preparation and support for financial statements and management reporting.

◆ Financial Closing Support

Assistance with month-end, year-end and other reporting processes, including reconciliations and closing adjustments.

◆ Accounting Advisory

Analysis of accounting issues arising from transactions, contractual arrangements, changes in standards and other business events.

◆ Chart of Accounts s Reporting Structure

Design and development of accounting structures to support financial reporting, management information and business requirements.

◆ Accounting Systems s Processes

Review and improvement of accounting workflows, controls and financial reporting processes, including assistance with accounting system implementation.

◆ Payroll Support

Payroll processing and related financial administration.

Our accounting services support organizations that are growing, undergoing change, strengthening their finance function or addressing a particular reporting challenge. We can work alongside an existing finance team or provide additional professional capacity where needed.

From transactions to reporting, we help build reliable financial information.

Tax

Tax in the Context of Business

Tax considerations are often part of broader business decisions. Transactions, contracts, financing arrangements and changes in corporate structure can create tax consequences that need to be considered together with their accounting and commercial implications.

We therefore consider tax in its business context, not simply as a matter of calculation and reporting.

◆ Tax Compliance Support

Support for periodic and annual tax compliance and reporting processes.

◆ Tax Review s Reconciliation

Review and reconciliation of tax calculations, accounting records and supporting information to identify matters requiring attention.

◆ Tax Accounting

Support for the accounting and financial reporting implications of taxation.

◆ Tax Reporting Support

Support in organizing financial and accounting information required for tax reporting and compliance.

◆ Transaction Tax Considerations

Assessment of relevant tax considerations arising in transactions, investments, financing and restructuring.

Connected Perspective

Where an issue crosses accounting, finance and tax, SCR can bring these perspectives together. This is particularly relevant in transactions and restructuring, where accounting treatment, financial consequences and tax implications frequently need to be considered as part of the same decision.

Understand the obligation. See the implications. Make an informed decision.

Business s Financial Advisory

The Right Analysis to Support Business Decisions

Important business decisions require more than simply reading financial statements. Management and shareholders may need to understand the value of a business, the factors behind its financial performance, the economic merits of a transaction, the impact of a restructuring on stakeholders, or the alternatives available when circumstances change.

SCR combines financial analysis, accounting knowledge and commercial judgment to help clients evaluate the alternatives available.

TRANSACTIONS s VALUATION◆ Financial Due Diligence

Analysis of financial performance, financial position, cash flows and matters relevant to a proposed transaction.

◆ Business Valuation

Financial analysis supporting transactions, shareholder matters, restructuring and other business purposes.

◆ Transaction Support

Financial analysis and professional support throughout acquisitions, disposals, investments and other corporate transactions.

◆ Financial Modelling

Models supporting valuation, transactions, financing, scenario analysis and strategic decisions.

CORPORATE s FINANCIAL ADVISORY◆ Business s Financial Review

Focused analysis of financial performance, financial position and specific matters requiring management or shareholder attention.

◆ Corporate Restructuring

Financial analysis supporting changes in capital, ownership, financing or corporate arrangements.

◆ Corporate Finance

Analysis and support relating to financing, capital structure and other corporate financial matters.

◆ Business Planning

Financial and strategic analysis supporting business plans, projections and evaluation of future alternatives.

◆ CFO Advisory

Additional senior financial perspective for organizations facing significant financial, reporting or strategic issues.

GOVERNANCE s SPECIAL SITUATIONS◆ Corporate Governance

Review and advisory support relating to governance structures, accountability and financial oversight.

◆ Forensic s Investigative Support

Financial analysis addressing suspected irregularities, disputes or other matters requiring focused investigation.

Sometimes clients need an advisor across an entire workstream. At other times, they need an experienced financial professional to examine a specific issue independently and help them understand their options.

We bring structure to complex financial questions—so decisions can be made on a clearer basis.

Sustainability

The Evolution of Corporate Reporting

Corporate reporting continues to evolve. Investors, regulators, lenders, customers and other stakeholders increasingly consider sustainability information when assessing a company's performance, risks and long-term prospects. As a result, sustainability reporting is becoming increasingly connected with corporate reporting, governance, strategy, risk and business performance.

SCR brings its financial reporting and assurance experience to help organizations understand their sustainability reporting requirements and prepare the data, processes and controls needed to support them.

How We Work

Consistent Working Principles

Engagements may differ, but the principles underlying how we work are fundamentally the same. We apply relevant references, understand the facts and context, and carry out structured analysis to reach conclusions that can be supported and explained. Where relevant, we also provide recommendations for the client's consideration and follow-up.

A Clear and Practical Approach

Every engagement is different, but the principles behind how we work remain consistent. We begin by understanding the issue in its business context—not simply the technical question presented to us.

1. UNDERSTAND

Start with the need and context, not the service.

We seek to understand the business, the circumstances surrounding the engagement and the decisions that need to be made.

2. ASSESS

Identify the areas that need to be considered.

Depending on the engagement, we consider the relevant accounting, tax, finance, valuation, governance, controls and regulatory aspects.

3. ANALYZE

Ground the analysis in facts and evidence.

Our work is grounded in facts, documentation and professional standards. We distinguish facts from assumptions.

4. COMMUNICATE

Make complex matters understandable.

We communicate significant findings, alternatives and conclusions in a way designed to support discussion and decision-making.

The SsR Approach:

Understand → Assess → Analyze → Communicate → Client Decision

Technical rigor is the foundation. Clarity makes the work useful. Where relevant, conclusions are also accompanied by recommendations to support the client's follow-up.

Insights s Perspectives

Perspectives That Support How We Work

The business environment continues to change, as do reporting, regulation, markets and professional practices. SCR follows developments in accounting, corporate reporting, finance, governance, sustainability and other relevant areas so that we can understand their implications for clients.

FEATURED INSIGHT

Sustainability Reporting: Tuntutan Baru Corporate Reporting Setelah Fair Value Accounting

Corporate reporting continues to evolve as stakeholders demand information that better captures risk, value and long-term business prospects. This SCR perspective examines sustainability reporting as part of that continuing evolution—from traditional financial reporting toward a broader corporate reporting environment in which sustainability-related risks and opportunities increasingly matter.

It also considers the practical implications as sustainability information becomes more structured, measurable and ultimately subject to assurance.
